Conebella Farm, an award-winning Ayrshire dairy farm in Chester County, Pennsylvania, has been home to five generations of Gable's dating back to 1923. The name "Conebella" was derived from the two railroad crossings, the Conestoga and the Isabella, which used to run on opposite sides of the property.

The creamy, buttery taste of Conebella Farm cheddar-and colby-based cheeses are a result of the pure fresh Ayrshire milk used to make the cheeses. Ayrshire cows are colored reddish brown rather than the regularly seen black and white Holsteins that dot the Pennsylvania countryside. Ayrshire milk has been the preferred choice for prize winning cheese makers due to the butterfat and protein ratios within the milk. Taste the difference for yourself.
